By expanding its natural fertilization services, Organic Dutchman LLC seeks to reduce the risks of cancer resulting from toxic chemicals for property owners. Its environmentally friendly weed-killing products will not harm children or pets if they roll around in the grass after a treatment.

No Chemicals, No Pesticides, No Worries

According to the National Academy of Sciences, children are more susceptible to toxins than adults, and it estimates that 50% of lifetime pesticide exposure occurs during the first five years of life. Studies show that toxic chemicals in the environment may cause neurological and developmental damage, which could contribute to learning disabilities or behavioral disorders among children.

The team at Organic Dutchman LLC does not want its customers to be one of those statistics. All of its fertilizers and lawn treatments are non-toxic, and its lawn care treatments are intended to enrich grass and feed plants naturally, rather than forcing them to grow with chemical stimulants.

The company's basic lawn care program includes 8 seasonal visits with fertilization, weed control, liming, and winterization services. Its comprehensive program encompasses all the basic features, as well as pH soil testing, seeding procedures, and grub, fungus, and crabgrass control.
