companies worldwide that provide the full spectrum of outsourcing services—not just information technology and business process outsourcing, but also facility services, real estate and capital asset management, manufacturing, and logistics.

IAOP creates its Global Outsourcing 100 list based on extensive scoring methodology, independent interviews with IAOP client members, and selection of the leading IT outsourcing companies on the market. Companies must perform exceptionally in four areas in order to be chosen for the listing: Customer References, Awards and Certifications, Programs for Innovation, and Corporate Social Responsibility.

The NIX team has worked diligently to ensure providing customers with a comprehensive range of services: software product development, all manner of IT consulting, various types of digital transformation, and business
