

Region 10, EdCuration Partnering to Make EdTech Purchasing Easy

EdCuration and Region 10 lead the way for the curation of high-quality K-12 EdTech solutions for searching, comparing, and purchasing resources.

DENVER, CO, UNITED STATES, March 1, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Region 10 ESC has partnered with EdCuration to host and promote vendor contracts for its EdTech Exchange Purchasing Cooperative. Region 10's EdTech cooperative was formed to help districts satisfy federal, state, and local procurement requirements and provide the best available pricing for products and solutions related to K-12 Educational Technology (EdTech).

There's nowhere else teachers can go to get crowdsourced peer opinions about EdTech resources that will help with decision-making. We're excited to be the one-stop shop for EdTech solutions.”

Timeri Tolnay, CEO of EdCuration

EdCuration leads the way for the curation of high-quality K-12 EdTech solutions on their online marketplace for searching, comparing, and purchasing instructional resources. Local Education Agencies and educators across the country use EdCuration to search and curate teaching & learning solutions and utilize competitively bid, compliant contracts from Region 10 EdTech vendors to save time, stress, and money.

“We're excited to be moving forward with a relationship that we know will be of great value to our LEAs,” says Jim Newhouse, Assistant Director at Region 10. “Saving educators time and money while connecting them to effective solutions is at the heart of our mission and motto.”

Educators at all levels can create a free account within EdCuration's marketplace to begin their search for instructional tools and resources. They can then search by subject, grade level, trending topics, Evidence Base, and more. Region 10 awarded EdTech vendors are marked with a Region 10 badge and can also be found by filtering results on the EdCuration search page.

EdCuration's marketplace consists of core and supplemental curriculum, EdTech tools, professional development solutions, remote teaching and tutoring programs--any resources designed to support teaching and learning. Educators can browse more than 600 products on topics such as literacy, math, SEL, computer science, intervention, and more. Utilizing the variety of filtering abilities, educators can see product content; read customer reviews of resources; review efficacy data on product effectiveness; see accolades earned by EdReports, Digital Promise, ISTE; and more.

In addition, this innovative EdTech marketplace includes shopping features where educators can download instant quotes and potentially purchase instructional resources directly within the marketplace, streamlining the purchasing process. For products not directly for sale at EdCuration yet, educators click "Let's Chat" to begin a conversation with the sales rep or even "Schedule a Demo" for immediate access to company calendars. Programs that offer free pilots also enable educators to "Inquire about a Pilot."

"There's nowhere else teachers can go to get crowdsourced peer opinions about EdTech resources that will help with decision-making," said Timeri Tolnay, CEO of EdCuration. "We're excited to be the one-stop shop for EdTech solutions for educators."
