

AlediumHR Releases Version 6 of their Talentlytical® AI Talent Acquisition Platform

Talentlytical's® AI algorithms access candidates from untapped talent sources, matching them with healthcare organizations' job openings & job requirements.

TAMPA, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, June 1, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ --

AlediumHR, North America's first telehealth recruiting firm, has released version six of their Talentlytical® AI Healthcare Talent Acquisition Platform.

Talentlytical® is AlediumHR's proprietary talent acquisition platform that deploys intuitive AI to attract and match qualified candidates focused on specific job requirements. It's called "Intelligent Recruiting."

Talentlytical's® machine-learning algorithms access potential candidates from untapped talent sources, providing hiring companies with healthcare professionals matched and interested in job opportunities beyond job boards and other typical recruiting methods. With Talentlytical®, qualified matched candidates can be immediately contacted via email and text through Talentlytical® for available positions. Talentlytical's® proven AI recruiting technology significantly improves the talent acquisition process and provides a recruitment ROI.

"In the Fall of 2020, at the height of the Pandemic, we released the first version of our proprietary Talentlytical® AI Talent Acquisition Platform. AlediumHR started recruiting in telehealth in 2013. The company had the vision to recognize the future of remote and virtual healthcare, but the unexpected rise of Covid created an even faster runway, said Mike Maffei, Founding Partner & President of AlediumHR.

"Now, with healthcare having a shortage of nurses and other key medical personnel, Talentlytical® represents an opportunity to move recruiting to the next phase with Chatgpt and AI. We were seven years ahead of the growth in telehealth, which positioned us well as a company during Covid. With AI accelerating at an unexpected pace, AlediumHR, again, was two years ahead and is now well positioned for the next phase. said Maffei."

AlediumHR specializes in Telehealth, Health Tech, Allied Health, Healthcare Support, Behavioral Health, Pharmaceutical, and Biomedical Recruiting. The core principles of AlediumHR were first
