As an active member of the community, Sabrina organizes events for women entrepreneurs and donates to various community charities each year.

Reviews

"Hindsight to Insight explains how we inherit our money culture from our parents. If they're not financially savvy, we may continue to repeat money mistakes from one generation to the next, preventing us from achieving financial freedom. Author Sabrina Protic includes insightful anecdotes to illustrate why financial literacy is an essential part of our education. This short, easy-to-read book is valuable for anyone who wants more confidence and success around money."

—C. J. Grace, bestselling author of "Adulterer's Wife: How to Thrive Whether you Stay or Not" and the comic memoir, "My Wild Ride: How to Thrive After Breast Cancer and Infidelity."

"The way Sabrina shared her relationships with money as she grew up from childhood to adulthood mirrored many readers' stories when it comes to their knowledge and handling of money. When you know better, you do better. That's why this book is an essential read for children as well as adult education in order for them to become better stewards of their income. This will lead to greater financial independence."

—Terrance Leftridge, aka Mr. UnStopABLE, Host of The UnStopABLE Stories Show

"Reading "Hindsight to Insight" helped me to understand the freedom money can give to us if we use it wisely! I also learned how money can break us or has broken us as a society."

—Sparkle Lindsay, International Recovery Coach, Mental Health, Transformations Specialist and

Trainer, Speaker and Author of the book "Being A Better Me For Me"

Quotes

"Your financial tomorrow depends on the decisions you make today." —Sabrina Protic, Hindsight to Insight

"When you hear the word money, does something magically happen in your mind? Perhaps you become excited, nervous, afraid, empowered, depressed, scared, or even paranoid. This roller coaster of emotions could be due to our generational money culture." —Sabrina Protic, Hindsight to Insight

"Some cultures teach people to trust no one, and others teach them to trust everyone with money." —Sabrina Protic, Hindsight to Insight
