Daniel Okelo, WarpSpeed's President and C.E.O., said "In conducting our research, potential retailers have shown enthusiasm in doing business with PinnacleDSB. Their main complaint is that they order products, but are never sure if those items will be delivered. They often discover after the fact that these items were 'out of stock' with the distributors. Once our first distribution center is up and running, it will be very easy to replicate and open more locations very quickly."
