Currently in its 11th year, the Tech100 program provides housing professionals with a comprehensive list of the industry's most innovative and impactful organizations. This list is widely used to identify partners and solutions that effectively address the challenges that mortgage lenders face every day.

closing processes to facilitate a better overall lending experience. The company has been successful at digitizing critical areas of loan origination, closings, secondary marketing and servicing transactions. In 2014, DocMagic pioneered the industry's first single-source eClosing solution, containing all of the functionality required to facilitate a completely paperless mortgage closing.

In the last year, DocMagic has enhanced many of its core solutions to better serve its clients. For example, remote online notary (RON) functionality was integrated into DocMagic's Total eClose™ platform. DocMagic launched eDecision, the company's eEligibility tool, which helps identify the specific type of eClosing that can be conducted in a given region prior to closing. These advancements reflect the company's commitment to staying ahead of the curve in technology, and to providing the most advanced and comprehensive solutions possible.

Each year the Tech100 program has continued to expand, as the demand for technology in housing continues to progress. This was the fourth year the Tech100 program was separated into two groups — Tech100 Mortgage and Tech100 Real Estate — to highlight the innovation and achievements of organizations within both sectors.

"We're focused on elevating the innovators that are building paths and solutions that enable the largest and most important sector in the U.S. economy to operate efficiently and profitably — the innovators that make housing more accessible and more desirable for the 130 million households that benefit from the stability and economic advantages of homeownership," said Clayton Collins, CEO of HW Media. "The Tech100 program is the gold standard for organizations in housing who are at the forefront of the kind of innovation that will change the industry forever."

HousingWire stated that its Tech100 program grows increasingly more competitive each year, and the applicants improve in caliber as the demand for technology in the industry continues to progress.
