Founded in 2015, TempStars has furthered the careers of more than 10,000 female dental professionals, ranging from dentists to hygienists to dental assistants, something Dr. James Younger, the founder and CEO of TempStars as well as a practicing dentist, takes great pride in.

"The industry has really evolved for the better in that there are many more women practicing as dentists than there were when I entered the profession," said Dr. Younger. "At the same time, we are seeing more men joining the ranks of dental hygienists and assistants as an excellent professional option to support themselves and their families. It's great to see more diversity and equality across the spectrum of roles in the dental profession."

Even with these trends, women remain strongly represented among hygienists and dental assistants and have received substantial benefit from being able to embrace dental temping with an easy and predictable service like TempStars. In fact, TempStars has provided more than $18 million in earnings to dental hygienists and assistants in North America since the company was founded in 2015.

"The rapid growth of TempStars has enabled more and more women in dentistry to do things like start and operate side businesses, pursue entrepreneurial passions, further their education and support their families with a flexible, empowered lifestyle and great income," said Dr. Younger. "We are proud to support dental professionals with those opportunities."
