daily conversation using N1-level Japanese. Video classes are available 24 hours a day for students' convenience, and live classes of 90 minutes each will be held twice a week.

The Ho-Class is ideal for those who are confident in their Japanese skills or want to improve their Japanese language skills for business. The small class sizes allow for close communication with the instructor, and because the teacher provides direct guidance and advice during class, each student can grow at their own pace.

Starting in April 2023, the "Ho-Class" will be offered for JLPT N1 learners. As a result, AOJ Language School will offer classes at all levels from beginner level beginners to N1 advanced level. The school has received many inquiries about the N1 class, indicating its popularity and high demand. Considering the current situation in the Japanese online education market and various learning materials available, there are few options for JLPT N1 preparation. AOJ Language School offers a unique opportunity to learn systematically online by combining on-demand learning materials with live classes. Therefore, the school has decided to consider offering classes according to each time zone, not just during the most popular time slots as originally planned. Live classes are planned to be held every Wednesday and Saturday at 2:00, 4:00, 9:00, 11:00, and 19:30 (all Japan time).

AOJ Language School is now accepting enrollment applications through our online application form. Applications can be completed in as little as 1 minute. The school also offers free trial lessons, so please feel free to apply.

Additionally, our last online information session for the spring semester will be held on Saturday, March 11th. If you are interested in attending, please be sure to apply. The school is also happy to answer any questions you may have about the school or provide information materials, which can be requested through our website.
