The SPI Software System platform features a comprehensive set of modules that provide management-oriented software solutions to a global market of resort developers and operators of timeshare, vacation clubs, and mixed-use properties. The scope of modules includes solutions for Marketing, Sales, Resort, and Finance. Additional software programs help properties with loan servicing, maintenance fee servicing, receivables management, centralized reservations, and owner services. Other elements of the resort management program include data on tours, premium inventory, guest management solutions, sales management, sales tracking, commissions and document preparation, guest management solutions, reservations, property management and owner rentals.

"We are honored with this important award," said McClendon, "and proud of the recognition of the management software system now in use by resorts around the globe. We are also extremely proud of the dedicated and talented team members who have made this award possible. They are the magic that makes our systems work."

GNEX Conferences attract senior-level executives from vacation industry companies across the globe. The conferences bring together a unique mix of attendees from traditionally separated segments of the hospitality industry, enabling you to network with companies that specialize in Hotels, Vacation Ownership, Resort Real Estate, Vacation Rentals, OTAs, Travel Agencies & Travel Clubs, plus all the vendors that supply them.
