

Platinum Jewelry Takes the Spotlight at the 95th Academy Awards

Statement Necklaces and Drop Earrings Were Leading Trends on the Champagne Carpet

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, USA, March 13, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Awards show season culminated with Hollywood's most notable movie stars donning dazzling jewelry designs set in platinum at the 95th Academy Awards. From statement necklaces to drop earrings, platinum proved to be the metal of choice for celebrities as they fêted their achievements on the world's most famous champagne carpet. Platinum's natural white color enhances the brilliance of diamonds and colored gemstones, while also keeping them most secure, so it's the perfect choice for luxury jewelry.

The most prominent platinum jewelry trends at the Academy Awards tonight were bold necklaces as seen on Florence Pugh, Michelle Williams, and Lady Gaga, and drop earrings worn by Kate Hudson, Chloe East, and Monica Barbaro.

"Tonight's variety of jewelry designs showcased platinum's beauty and versatility," said Platinum Guild International CEO Huw Daniel. "These rare diamonds and colored gems set in platinum provided the finishing touch to the couture outfits."

Platinum Guild International is pleased to share that leading jewelry brands such as Tiffany & Co., Rahaminov Diamonds, Kwiat, Fred Leighton, Harry Winston, Reza, De Beers, Norman Silverman, Cartier, and Platt Boutique Jewelry chose to style A-list celebrities in naturally white platinum.

The following stars wore these specific pieces of platinum jewelry to the Academy Awards:

About Platinum Jewelry

Platinum is the ideal choice for red carpet jewelry because it holds diamonds and precious gemstones more securely than any other metal. It is not only the highest quality metal, but its density makes it one of the most durable and enduring precious metals. Platinum is also naturally white, unlike white gold, which means it will not cast any tint onto a diamond or gemstone, allowing the stone's genuine color to sparkle brightly.
