Crypto asset regulation is evolving and navigating the blockchain is complex, so businesses need a resource in the form of a community to stay relevant.”

CEO Taylor Zork, CPA

The partnership will provide new projects through the TrustSwap Launchpads ecosystem with access to the CryptoCFOs community. The goal of the partnership is to help ensure the ongoing financial stability of these early-stage startups through education and a professional support system.

"Access to accounting and tax professionals who are well-versed in crypto assets is a huge barrier to success for many early-stage projects. The resources in the CCFOs community will help launchpads gain access to top professionals from around the globe so they can succeed in the long term," said Jeff K, CEO of TrustSwap.

The CryptoCFOs community, which includes accounting, tax, and finance professionals from over 12 countries around the globe, will ensure that new projects have access to strategic guidance from professionals at the forefront of the crypto and web3 industry. Through the mobile app or web version, web3 startups can have high-quality discussions and education on the go.

TrustSwap's Startup incubator "Launchpads" have launched over 45 projects and raised over $50 million dollars for startups looking to get into the crypto space. TrustSwap's "The Crypto App," a portfolio tracker and news portal now boasts over 4.5 million downloads.

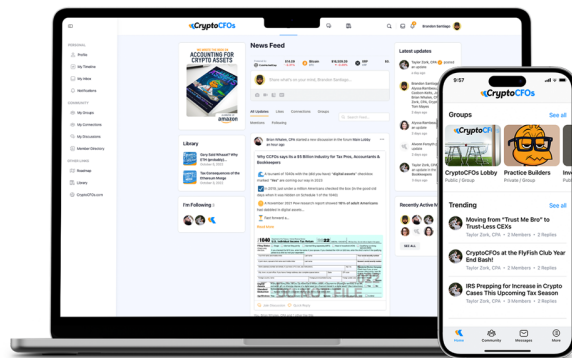

"Crypto asset regulation is evolving and navigating the blockchain is complex, so businesses need a resource in the form of a community to stay relevant. CryptoCFOs supports and uplifts existing financial professionals in the crypto space through weekly roundtable discussions, a library of 50+ course videos, office hours, and vibrant discourse." said Taylor Zork, CPA and CEO of CryptoCFOs.
