ANNAPOLIS, MD, UNITED STATES,
March 14, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ --
St. Martin's Evangelical Lutheran Church (St. Martin's) is hosting the internationally acclaimed traveling art exhibit ICONS in Transformation, featuring contemporary works by expressionist Ludmila Pawlowska, April 23 through June 11, 2023, on Sundays
(Noon to 2 p.m.), Wednesdays (4-7 p.m.), and Saturdays (10 a.m.- 2 p.m.).
This exhibit is free and open to the public, with the artist's proceeds benefiting Ukrainian refugees.

Artist Ludmila Pawlowska creates three-dimensional paintings depicting light, love, spirituality, and time for the ICONS in Transformation exhibit April 23-June 11 at St. Martin's Lutheran Church in Annapolis.

“The war in Ukraine is very personal to me as my mother was Ukrainian and many of my relatives and friends were forced to flee their homes,” Pawlowska shared. “This is why I’m donating my proceeds to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and CARE International, to provide life-saving protections to those forced from their homes.”

During a particularly difficult time of global conflict and anxiety, we hope this art provides a platform to process these complexities and encourage dialogue.”

Oravec*

The exhibit has traveled throughout cathedrals, churches, and museums in Europe, and for the last decade has toured in the United States. More than 2 million people worldwide have experienced this transformative art exhibit. Now ICONS in Transformation is debuting in Annapolis for the first time, showcasing Pawlowska’s unique medium of three-dimensional paintings depicting light, love, spirituality, and time.

"We're hosting this magnificent 150-piece art exhibit to prompt a deeper reflection on faith and the spiritual journey, while supporting Ukrainian refugees," St. Martin's Pastor Dave Oravec said. "During a particularly difficult time of global conflict and anxiety, we hope this art provides a platform to process these complexities and encourage dialogue."

ICONS in Transformation is free and available to the public during the following days and times. Private group tours are available by appointment only; for group arrangements please contact 410-757-5090. To learn more visit
