The pair loved experiencing diverse cultures and meeting people from different backgrounds and believed that these special moments are enhanced using technology.

With this in mind, U Jin and Chendan searched for new ways to obtain trending technology at a low price for everyone to enjoy – no matter their age or background. As such, ORANGA Goods was founded to help solve these issues.

U Jin is a serial entrepreneur with a consumer technology background and has been recognized for his successful fusing of culture with high technology. Chendan Luo is a respected engineer with an impressive background in VC and entrepreneurship.
