Crypto Dispensers' CDReload service streamlines the process of accessing cryptocurrency services. Customers simply create an account on the Crypto Dispensers website, verify their identity, and generate a barcode on their mobile device. At any participating retail location, customers present the barcode to a cashier, along with the cash amount they wish to deposit. The funds are then instantly credited to their CDReload account, allowing users to purchase Bitcoin and transfer it to their preferred Bitcoin wallet.

CDReload eliminates the need for customers to travel great distances in search of a Bitcoin ATM, many of which may be out of order, sparing users time and aggravation.
