DJ Vudu Spellz has produced numerous #1 billboard chart-topping albums and has been blessed to receive two (2) platinum plaques in his first official year as a freshman in the recording industry.

DJ Vudu Spellz has been producing and recording since 1994 but some of DJ Vudu Spellz's recent NRA projects include Ludacris, Jamie Foxx, Chingy, R.Kelly, Do Or Die, Shannna, Reuben Studdard, Montell Jordan, Cece Peniston and a host of others. Vudu has also done voice-overs for promos and commercials for TVT Records which aired on BET Awards Show and a recent radio ad for the PBS tv series "Fight The Power" executive produced and hosted by hip hop icon Chuck D from the iconic hip hop group Public Enemy.

DJ Vudu Spellz produced songs for Grammy Award winner Harold Lilly who wrote "You Don't Know My Name" for Alicia Keys. Harold and Vudu's "Po Pimpin' " collaboration appeared in Usher's movie "In The Mix".

DJ Vudu Spellz guest appearances as a DJ and as a producer include BET's "106 and Park", BET's "Rap City - The Basement", FOX Channel's "Fox - In The Morning", the UPN's "Reality Hip Hop Show", and "Girls Gone Wild Spring Break - South Padre". So it's safe to say DJ Vudu Spellz's no stranger to the camera.

DJ Vudu Spellz's New Orleans Gumbo-like style uniquely blends Dirty South, Midwest, East, and West Coast hip-hop. DJ Vudu Spellz produces and spins Hip-Hop, R&B, Pop, Top 40, and a taste of many other genres of music making him one of the most versatile producers to hit the market.

His 2002 Midwest Music Award and 2006 Global Mixx DJ Nomination for "Best Hip-Hop Producer" speak for themselves. DJ Vudu Spellz's national DJ history makes him a hot commodity to any club. In addition to his Discography of a multi-platinum artist. Vudu is also a former alumnus of P. Diddy's Bad Boy Management Family and has traveled across the country spinning for the most prestigious companies like the National Lampoons who hold an MTV-sponsored SPRING BREAK TOUR every year in Las Vegas, Mexico, and Texas. Vudu has also spun in many other markets including Alaska, Seattle, Chicago, and Memphis. Vudu plans to continue building his entertainment company, Vudu Spellz Entertainment Inc., building his catalog, DJ experience, and making an impact on the world of music and entertainment.

DJ Vudu Spellz current projects include the DGE/Universal release of his song collaboration "Sex Your Troubles Away" featuring new artist M-Status and guitarist Fretty Brown along with the music video introducing his daughter, artist, and songwriter Nasia.

He is also working on current projects with his son, producer DJ J Legacy, featuring new up-and-coming artists Daiyon, Ivy Shades, 9-year-old hip hop phenomenon Lil Jeezy and other promising independent artists nationwide.

And last but not least Vudu is a strong believer in giving back to the community and is part of several foundations and outreach programs that support and uplift the youth including the Taking Back The Block Foundation (Las Vegas) founded and created by a close friend and business associate Robert Strawder that includes the Hip Hop Entrepreneurship Program and the McCarty Legacy Foundation located in DJ Vudu Spellz's home town of Kankakee, IL co-founded by his mother Christine McCarty Booker.

Music runs deep in DJ Vudu Spellz's blood having a family of musicians, artists, and singers on both sides of the family and having children of his own that are blessed with those talents as well has continued a legacy that is going to continue making a mark on the world. Stay tuned into DJ
