Troy Cardoso-Vigors, one of the new Franchise Partners, said, "Having spent my career working with major Infrastructure and Technology organisations, I have witnessed the ongoing need in the workplace for people who specialise in coding, robotics and mathematics. I am excited to bring Skill Samurai to the Inner West, and to help children develop the skills they need to thrive in the digital age. John Palumbo, the other new Franchise Partner, added, "I have seen first hand the power of having a strong STEM related education. I consider myself a mathematics enthusiast, having won many prizes when I was younger and this grounding has enabled me to thrive throughout my life. I believe there is a transformative power in a strong STEM related education and I am excited to be part of the Skill Samurai family. Our goal is to create a warm and welcoming learning environment, where children can explore, create, and grow. We also want to focus on developing our students as people their parents can be proud of."
