

CorkageFee App Launches in Singapore

Helping Wine Lovers Find BYOW, Bring Your Own Wine, Restaurants and More

SINGAPORE, May 15, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- CorkageFee, the popular restaurant guide for wine enthusiasts, has officially launched in Singapore. The app, designed to help users find restaurants that allow them to bring their own wine, now features a directory of restaurants, wineries, wine clubs, and businesses selling wine-related products and services in Singapore.

The Singapore food scene is rich and diverse - a melting pot of flavors from across Asia. It's most famous for its street food. You may have seen street food vendors have even won Michelin Stars! Prices in Singapore can be substantially more expensive when compared to other Southeast Asian countries. When it comes to wine, be sure to abide by the rules. Consuming liquor is not allowed in public places from 10:30 pm to 7:00 am. Singapore has an incredibly vast variety of wine bars and tasting rooms for both locals and tourists to enjoy. For fine dining, you will want to check out Odette which is listed in the top 50 best restaurants in Asia.

With CorkageFee, users can easily search for BYOW policies at local restaurants, as well as browse promotions and specials listed by the establishments themselves. By paying a low annual fee, restaurants can gain access to a valuable source of potential customers, who may otherwise opt to stay home instead of visiting a restaurant that doesn't serve their preferred wine.

wine lovers discover new dining experiences and businesses," said Adrian Esquivel, Founder of CorkageFee. "Our app is designed to be a community where users can share corkage fees and reviews, and we believe this will be a valuable resource for both customers and businesses."

In addition to the directory, CorkageFee also offers features such as the ability to call, get directions, and search for nearby wine shops or wineries.

CorkageFee was developed by TECKpert, a Miami-based technology consulting and staff augmentation firm. The app is available for free on the Apple app store.
