LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, March 24, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The Biden-Harris Administration, through the US Department of Energy (DOE), has announced $750m for research and development efforts related to reducing the cost of clean hydrogen, in a recent article by Gas World.

Produced with Net Zero carbon emissions, clean hydrogen has been described as “essential” for reaching President Biden’s goal of a 100% clean electrical grid by 2025 and Net Zero carbon emissions by 2050. The funding marks the first phase of $1.5bn made available in President Biden’s Bipartisan Infrastructure Law dedicated to advancing electrolysis technologies and improving manufacturing and recycling capabilities.
