Benefits of Telehealth

There are many benefits to using Banyan's telehealth services. Patients can receive treatment from anywhere, without leaving the comfort of their own homes. This method eliminates travel time and costs associated with traveling, provides comfort and convenience, as well as creates flexibility for patients who may otherwise not be able to receive treatment at all. For patients who have completed a more intensive level of care, telehealth is an easy transition into living a sober lifestyle, while still receiving treatment.
