Digital Agriculture Market Dynamics:

Drivers:

Digital Agriculture Platform Market

Population growth continues apace. Therefore, feeding an expanding population poses greater challenges and places greater strain on agricultural production.

Manpower Shortage:

Farm labor shortages have become more acute as urbanization and the search for reliable income have caused an increasing shortage.

An increasing demand for food:

The global population is expanding, creating a need for more food. This requires higher productivity with lower costs in an increasingly constrained environment.

Restraints/Challenges:

Lack of technical proficiency among individuals to efficiently utilize digital agriculture technology is expected to further restrict its growth over the forecast period. Furthermore, rapid standardization processes could present another threat for future expansion in this market.
