KANATA, ONTARIO, CANADA, March 29, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- nandbox Is Announcing Its New Pricing Update!

nandbox Inc. is thrilled to announce new prices that offer their clients new values. Not only did the company update its prices after providing its clients with seven years of high-quality native no-code services at little to no cost, but it also updated its modules, features, and app builder to be more enhanced. The upgrade includes making their iOS system app release through the app builder faster and more efficient.

“We’re excited that our newest price updates will allow our clients to have access to features that are more enhanced and will let them have a seamless app-building experience.” Hazem Maguid, CEO of nandbox Inc., stated. “We aim to deliver better value for our clients and provide them with the most innovative technology to help them unlock their app development potential.”

The company also unlocked annual prices for their clients to help them save money and have the best value in the market for no-code app builders. With its premium plan, which includes a release for iOS and Android, full access to limitless app features, access to six thousand users, fifty GB of storage, and fifteen APK builds per month, its plan is $299 per month, paid annually, and will allow the company’s clients to save up to $718 per year!

“After nearly two years of offering free services to our clients, we were obliged to take this decision due to the considerable changes in the global economic environment.” “Our clients are our top priority, which is why we are granting them two extra weeks to enjoy our free services before they will have to subscribe to one of our newly added plans.” Hazem Maguid, nandbox CEO and Founder
