UNLOCK THE POWER OF HEALTH INFORMATION MANAGEMENT:

Acquire, Analyze, and Protect Data with Our Guidance

APRIL 6
11 AM EST

Natalie Tkachenko
Healthcare Software Solutions Consultant at NIX

Natalie Tkachenko, Healthcare Software Solutions Consultant at NIX, and speaker at the webinar, will address the challenges healthcare organizations face when implementing Health Information Management (HIM) practice. HIM is a critical practice in the healthcare industry, involving the collection, storage, analysis, and protection of patient data to inform clinical decision-making and ensure quality care and compliance with regulatory requirements.

During the webinar, attendees will learn practical solutions to help healthcare organizations implement HIM successfully, ensuring the solid protection of PII and PHI. Additionally, attendees will learn how to optimize the setup of intelligent information workflow, including the potential for ChatGPT in the orchestration of healthcare processing. The webinar will highlight the use of process automation and transformation by involving the use of electronic health record (EHR) systems, clinical decision support tools, data analytics software, and other digital technologies.

Real use cases of such healthcare solutions developed and implemented by NIX engineers will be demonstrated during the webinar. Attendees will gain valuable insights and network with industry peers.

"We invite the community of intelligent information professionals to join us for this informative and engaging webinar. The webinar is designed to help healthcare organizations overcome the challenges they face when implementing HIM practice, and leverage advanced technologies to strengthen their HIM systems," said Natalie Tkachenko.
