Corp said: “we launched the TechConnect Gold program to further support aircraft brokers even before the client has decided on a specific aircraft to ensure that they, and their clients, have access to a sounding board for technical issues to help them make more informed decisions”.

Buchholz added “many aircraft brokerages don't have sufficient aircraft technical inspection expertise or bandwidth in-house, and our TechConnect Gold program is designed to give them access to such technical expertise, not just when they have an on-site tech rep from Crew Chiefs during the Pre-Purchase Inspection”.
