

Nanobles Corporation Gains Registered Trademark on JANE Functional Wellness Adaptogen Drinks

In a flurry of announcements, Nanobles Corporation of California is rolling out its functional food and beverage product line plans for the global marketplace

SANTA BARBARA, CA, UNITED STATES, March 31, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Nanobles Corporation is proud to announce that they have recently secured a registered trademark on their functional wellness drink line, JANE. This product line, designed in water and soda forms, was created by C.E.O. Mike Robinson, an innovative researcher. Robinson has been an influential figure in creating natural functional food and beverage flavorings and preservatives for years, which makes this new product line a welcome addition to the family.

"We are very excited to be able to move forward with this product line," says David Uhalley, Chief Operations Officer at Nanobles Corporation. "JANE" was created to provide consumers with a healthy alternative to traditional sodas and energy drinks while being delicious and enjoyable. Our team has worked hard over the years to develop it, so we are thrilled that it is now officially one of our trademarked brands."

The trademark acquisition for JANE comes less than a year after Nanobles Corporation merged with Global Cannabinoid Research Center in 2022. This merger created a powerhouse between Robinson's research-based background and the company's expertise in health and wellness products, allowing them to develop various formulations that benefit consumers worldwide.

David Uhalley, Chief Operating Officer of The NANO Group, Nanobles Corporation, and Communications Director of GCRC

"Nanobles Corporation has always been about innovation," states C.E.O Mike Robinson. "We strive to create products that will improve people's lives in some way, whether through improving their health or simply giving them something delicious yet healthy to drink while they go about their day-to-day activities."

The C.E.O. of what is now known as The NANO Group has taken a step away from the cannabis industry to focus more on health and wellness with this non-Cannabis drink brand. "I want to be clear that nothing The NANO Group works on is Cannabis; I do, however, advance R&D on future Cannabinoid Medicines with GCRC." After a decade of being known for his work in the cannabis space, Robinson has decided to shift his attention to developing multiple product lines. This one focuses on using nature as a functional flavoring, "We can use water-soluble food grade essential oils to help people gain more than just a taste when they quench their thirst."

The JANE Drink line was originally created for the Cannabis Industry, but we've seen too many regulatory and investor issues and found functional flavors come from various plants, it's all nature."

Now that they have secured a registered trademark on JANE, Nanobles Corporation is looking for investment funds or partners who can help them bring this product line (and many more) to fruition. As one of 2021's High Times Top 100 Most Influential in Cannabis who also happens to be battling cancer for the fourth time, Robinson hopes that his efforts will make a positive difference in people's lives worldwide – including with JANE drinks.

The Nanobles Corporation's C.E.O. and founder of the Global Cannabinoid Research Center, Robinson, was chosen as Businessperson of the Year for 2023 on Alignable for Santa Barbara County's Eastern Goleta Valley. Every year the members of the platform vote for individuals who have significantly impacted their community and economy. Winners were announced recently by the Boston-based Alignable business platform that hosts over 8,000,000 entities, "I feel we must network, that when we share, our industry can bring food and beverages to a whole new level."

Mike Robinson, GCRC and Nanobles founder, named 2023 Businessperson of the year for Santa Barbara's Eastern Goleta Valley
