Kate Griggs, founder & CEO of Made By Dyslexia comments: "New York City is leading the way in empowering Dyslexic Thinking. Already, they've trained every teacher to spot and support dyslexia and to create the kind of inclusive classrooms where every child thrives. The future of the workplace needs the very skills these children have. This World Dyslexia Assembly NYC aims to show that if we harness the limitless power of Dyslexic Thinking, anything is possible, and shows that the power to create change is in our hands."

The Assembly will also feature some of the world's top companies including Microsoft, LinkedIn, EY, Randstad and Virgin - all important partners and supporters of Made By Dyslexia and its mission.

The audience will hear from Laura Powell, Global Head of Human Resources at HSBC, Matthew Higgs Vice President, Global Solutions at Randstad Sourceright, Nicole Leverich, Vice President of Communications for LinkedIn and Hank Prybylski, Global Vice Chair for Transformation at EY, and Jenny Lay-Flurrie, Chief Accessibility Officer from Microsoft – all leaders within their organisations who explain why it's vital we employ Dyslexic Thinking in the workplace and unleash the potential of every Dyslexic Thinker who has the skills which are vital for the future of the workplace. The panel discussion will be moderated by Randstad Enterprise Chief Executive, Mike Smith.

To join Made By Dyslexia, and its special guests, at The World Dyslexia Assembly NYC on 03 April, 2023 at the David Geffen Hall, Lincoln Centre – and celebrate the limitless power of Dyslexic Thinking,
