"I'm familiar with and have used most of the data providers out there from Apollo to ZoomInfo and everything in between. Global Database offers the best account coverage I've found, the mobile append rates are above industry standard, and you can't beat the unlimited downloads pricing model," said Chad Burmeister, Founder of BDR.ai.

With this partnership, BDR.ai users can now enjoy the industry's most comprehensive business intelligence database, giving them unparalleled insight into their target markets. Additionally, Global Database's unlimited download pricing model allows BDR.ai users to access as much data as they need without worrying about additional costs.

"We are excited to partner with BDR.ai to help them deliver best-in-class data solutions to their users," said Nicolae Buldumac, CEO and Founder of Global Database. "Our platform offers a unique combination of data quality, depth, and breadth that sets us apart from other providers in the industry. We look forward to working with BDR.ai to help them achieve their sales automation and AI goals."

BDR.ai users can now take advantage of Global Database's vast collection of company and contact data to gain a competitive edge in their sales and marketing efforts. With a reliable and accurate source of information, BDR.ai users can focus on identifying the right prospects, creating personalized messaging, and ultimately driving revenue growth.
