Golden Afternoon offers an inviting approach to IV ketamine therapy. Patients can expect a comfortable, spa-like atmosphere with calming music, cozy blankets, and personalized attention from experienced registered nurses. The clinic provides a holistic approach to wellness and offers a variety of complementary services to enhance the ketamine experience, including mindfulness coaching, music curation, and the option to bring your own therapist.

Patient safety is a top priority. The clinic is equipped with state-of-the-art monitoring equipment and staffed by experienced medical professionals. The treatment is always overseen by a licensed physician who is present at the clinic at all times.

"One patient told us their treatment was like a year of therapy packed into an hour," says co-founder Victoria Webster. "We are excited to offer this innovative treatment option to those who have struggled to find relief with traditional medications and therapies."

Ketamine therapy has been shown to provide rapid and effective relief for symptoms of depression, anxiety, and other mental health and chronic pain conditions. It can be administered to people who are currently taking most medications, and is relatively side effect free.
