

Author's Memoir About Greece Under Nazi Germany to Join London Book Fair

OLYMPIA, LONDON, April 13, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Mark Athanasios C. Karras' book What's in a Life provides a penetrating and unique description of his own personal experiences as a young American in Greece during the Nazi and Fascist war and subsequent occupation. The book will be part of Bookmarc Alliance's exhibit for the London Book Fair scheduled on April 18-20 at Olympia London.

The book draws upon his vivid and precise memories of this period, which he recounts through the lens of various family members, friends, and other personalities. It is a story of human suffering during the war, including loss of life, physical damage, suppression of freedom, and destruction of property.

But it also serves as a reminder that the pursuit of happiness is always in direct contradiction to human suffering and that the value of this book is not for entertainment but to serve as a paradigm of what life should not be. The story speaks for itself, and Dr. Karras hopes that it will provide an advantage and profit to his readers.
