April 9th, 2023 - Elijah McKenzie-Jackson, a renowned artist and activist, has launched his first NFT collection featuring three images of clowns. "The oil industry is one of the main culprits of the climate crisis, and yet they continue to prioritize profits over the well-being of our planet. Oil companies have a critical role to play in this transition, and the IPCC report sends a clear message that continued investment in fossil fuels is not only environmentally harmful but also financially risky in the long run. Divesting from fossil fuels and investing in sustainable energy alternatives is not only the socially responsible choice but also the prudent one for long-term business sustainability." said Elijah McKenzie-Jackson. "Through this NFT collection, I hope to bring attention to this issue and inspire others to take action."

Elijah Mckenzie-Jackson win the process of creating his debut Not collection to raise money for charity.

In addition to raising awareness, the proceeds from the NFT collection will go towards funding civic art and activist innovations. EMJ believes that art has the power to inspire change and wants to use his platform to support the efforts of other activists and artists.

"I believe that art has the power to bring people together and inspire change," said Elijah McKenzie-Jackson. "By using NFTs, we can create a sustainable model for supporting civic art and activist innovations."

Elijah McKenzie-Jackson's NFT collection will sell for 1 of 1 and will be available for purchase on April 23rd on various NFT marketplaces and mint from Manifold.
