Jewelry is a very personal thing... it should tell a story about the person who's wearing it.”

The jewelry collection at Exotic India Art has been taken from different religions, regions, and communities of India. Every piece of jewelry features traditional motifs, images of gods and goddesses, or designs that are rich in symbolism. The collection features items for almost all parts of the body, which is not surprising as decking up different parts of the body with jewelry has been an ancient Indian custom. From necklaces to pendants, earrings to nose and toe rings, bracelets to anklets, and much more, buyers can take their pick from different types and styles of jewelry items. The collection also includes jewelry with gold, silver, sterling silver, gems, and stones as per their style preferences.

Jewelry has been an integral part of Indian culture and heritage. In various communities, it is considered to be a symbol of beauty, tradition, and wealth. People are known to wear jewelry not only to enhance their beauty but also to gain significant health benefits. It is also used for utilitarian purposes such as decorative brooches for holding the folds of clothing together or as clasps, pins, and buckles to add style and grace to attire, or even in the form of hair accessories. The most unique aspect of Indian jewelry is that it is not only worn by women but also by men, for whom it reflects their vitality and status in some communities.

The jewelry offered by Exotic India Art is suitable for buyers looking to enhance their personal collections. At the same time, the jewelry items can also be presented as a unique gift to people interested in traditional Indian crafts.
