Disodium phosphate, also known as sodium hydrogen phosphate, is a salt of phosphoric acid with the chemical formula  $\text{Na}_2\text{HPO}_4$ . It is a white, odorless powder that is commonly used as a food additive, a buffering agent, and a water softener. In the food industry, disodium phosphate is used as an emulsifier, a stabilizer, and a texturizer, and is often added to processed foods such as cheese, dairy products, and baked goods. It is also used in the pharmaceutical industry as a source of phosphorus and in the production of detergents and cleaning products.
