

(Video) Continuous chemical gas attacks in Iran spark more protests, outrage

Locals in Tehran's Shahin district chanted anti-regime slogans on Tuesday night, including: "Down with the dictator!" "Down with Khamenei, the murderer!"

PARIS, FRANCE, April 13, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Regime operatives across Iran are continuing and expanding their latest wave of chemical gas attacks targeting innocent schoolgirls. Dozens of students have been transferred to hospitals to receive urgent medical care for poisonings.

These attacks are leading to a surge in protests by the Iranian people and outrage among the public over the atrocities of the mullahs' dictatorship and their enmity against the country's population.

Regime operatives across Iran are continuing and expanding their latest wave of chemical gas attacks targeting innocent schoolgirls. Dozens of students have been transferred to hospitals to receive urgent medical care for poisonings.

People throughout Iran continue to specifically hold the mullahs' Supreme Leader Ali Khamenei responsible for their miseries, while also condemning the oppressive Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps \(IRGC\) and paramilitary Basij units, alongside other security units that are on the ground suppressing the peaceful demonstrators.

“

Reports indicate the all-girls Khadijeh Kobra High School in the city of Oshnavieh, northwest Iran, has been targeted in a chemical gas attack by regime operatives on Tuesday.”

MEK

Locals in Tehran's Shahin district began chanting anti-regime slogans on Tuesday night, including: "Down with the dictator!"

"Down with Khamenei, the murderer!"

Reports indicate the all-girls Khadijeh Kobra High School in the city of Oshnavieh, northwest Iran, has been targeted in a chemical gas attack by regime operatives on Tuesday, according to the Hengaw Human Rights Organization.

A number of the students are suffering from poisoning, the report adds. Other chemical gas attacks on Tuesday are being reported from:

- The all-girls Fahmideh School and the Laleh & Effat Elementary School in Kamyaran of Kurdistan Province, western Iran
- The all-boys Amir Kabir School, the all-girls Al-Yasin School, the all-girls Hazrate Masoumeh School, the all-girls Masoud Bagheri School, the Saeed Ansar Elementary School, the Ahmad Masoudpour High School, and the all-girls Manouchehr Ansari School in Shahin Shahr of Isfahan Province, central Iran.

- The “Islamic Republic School” in Tabriz, northwest Iran
- The all-girls Farzanegan and Vali Asr high schools in Urmia, northwest Iran
- The all-girls Shayan School in Isfahan, central Iran
- The all-girls Maryam School and the all-girls Shima Moradi Elementary School in Kermanshah, western Iran
- The all-girls Hazrate Zeynab School in Bandar Ganaveh, southern Iran
- The all-girls Kamal Dehghan School in Karaj, west of Tehran, Iran
- The all-girls Ahmadiyah School in Borujerd, western Iran
- A number of schools in the Parsabad district of Moghan, northeast Iran
- The Be’sat School in Shahriar of Tehran Province
- The Atieh Sazan School of District 3 in Tehran

A chemical gas attack targeting the all-girls “Danesh Pezhuhan School” in Kermanshah, western Iran, has left at least 60 students poisoned, according to the Hengaw Human Rights Organization. They were transferred to nearby medical centers and two of the poisoned students are reported to be in critical condition.

These attacks are leading to protests by the Iranian people and outrage among the public over the atrocities of the mullahs’ dictatorship and their enmity against the country’s population. People throughout Iran continue to hold Ali Khamenei responsible for this.

Iranian opposition coalition NCRI President-elect Maryam Rajavi condemned the regime’s “cruelty and demagoguery” as the mullahs continue their campaign aimed at silencing the Iranian people and quelling their nationwide uprising.

In the city of Kamyaran of Kurdistan Province, students are reporting that they smelled “something similar to rotten eggs” at a school targeted in today’s organized chemical gas attacks. A number of students have been hospitalized in this city.

Regime operatives launched yet another chemical gas attack in Shahin Shahr, this time targeting the Tolu High School. Officials had the gates closed for an hour or so following the chemical gas attack, according to students at the scene. No ambulance came to the school to provide help and the regime’s Red Crescent officials did nothing.

Nurses and medical staff members from across Qazvin Province held a gathering on Monday outside the local governor’s office in Qazvin, northwest Iran, protesting the regime’s unjust policies that are delaying and decreasing their paychecks and pensions.

The students say only the teachers were helping the students to flee the scene and afterward officials were keeping a number of the senior teachers inside the school.

Further reports from locals in Shahin Shahr indicate that all the city’s hospitals and medical centers are packed with students poisoned in today’s chemical gas attacks.

These facilities are running critically short on oxygen tanks for their patients. At least ten schools in the city alone have been targeted in chemical gas attacks by regime operatives today.

Iranian opposition coalition NCRI President-elect Maryam Rajavi condemned the regime’s “cruelty and demagoguery” as the mullahs continue their campaign aimed at silencing the Iranian people and quelling their nationwide uprising.

“Today, the clerical regime has launched more chemical attacks on innocent schoolgirls in multiple cities, including Shahinshahr, Kermanshah, Isfahan, Urmia, Tabriz, and Bandar Genaveh.

The regime’s depravity in continuing this horrific crime is especially appalling given the holy month of Ramadan and the commemoration of Imam Ali’s (PBUH) martyrdom. Khamenei, the mullahs’ bloodthirsty supreme leader, has crossed a new threshold of cruelty and demagoguery in his desperate attempt to stifle dissent and prevent Iran protests.

However, his efforts will be in vain, for Iranian women, girls, and youth have vowed to rise up against this brutal regime and overthrow it,” the National Council of Resistance of Iran \(NCRI\)

President-elect said.

More than 1,300 students and school faculty have been to various hospitals with signs of poisoning, according to the regime's E'temad daily. "However, there has yet to be a single official pathology report, or a samples report from schools from the Passive Defense officials, or even a single official report from the numerous committees that have been tasked to look into this matter," the piece adds.

In the city of Saqqez, where regime operatives concentrated most of their recent chemical gas attacks yesterday, people took to the streets on Monday night to protest these poisonings and devastating measures.

The mullahs are deliberately targeting all-girls schools with such attacks to maintain the country's restive population focused on these matters and prevent a new rise in anti-regime protests.

Although it goes without saying that there is significant risk in this regard as these chemical gas attacks can result in a new eruption of anger among the Iranian people.

Contract workers in the Salman Farsi Special Petrochemical Site in the city of Sarbandar, southwest Iran, were protesting the officials' refusal to increase their pay and went on strike today.

Locals in the Shahrak-e Bagheri, Tehranpars, and North Karegar districts of Tehran began chanting anti-regime slogans on Monday night, including:

"Down with Khamenei! Damned be Khomeini!" "Down with the dictator!" "Down with the child-killing regime!" "We swear on the blood of our compatriots that we stand to the end!"

On Monday morning store owners and bazaar merchants in the city of Saqqez went on strike to protest these recent poisonings. Reports indicate that teachers and students were boycotting their classes in this city in an act of protest following the regime's systematic targeting of schools with chemical gas attacks and poisonings.

Authorities in Saqqez stationed anti-riot units outside the local governor's office as concerns among regime officials are escalating about popular protests over the ongoing chemical gas attacks.

Regime operatives launched more chemical gas attacks on Monday targeting all-girls schools, including even elementary schools, in various cities across the country.

- The all-girls Bent al-Hoda School in Tehran, the capital of Iran
- An all-girls elementary school in Urmia, northwest Iran
- The all-girls Bent al-Hoda School in Tehran

- The all-girls Sadr School in Karaj, west of Tehran
- The all-girls Farzanegan School in Sanandaj, capital of Kurdistan Province, western Iran
- The all-girls Narges High School in Khoy, northwest Iran

Nurses and medical staff members from across Qazvin Province held a gathering on Monday outside the local governor's office in Qazvin, northwest Iran, protesting the regime's unjust policies that are delaying and decreasing their paychecks and pensions.

The protests in Iran began following the death of Mahsa Amini. Mahsa (Zhina) Amini, a 22-year-old woman from the city of Saqqez in Kurdistan Province, western Iran, who traveled to Tehran with her family, was arrested on Tuesday, September 13, at the entry of Haqqani Highway by the regime's so-called "Guidance Patrol" and transferred to the "Moral Security" agency.

She was brutally beaten by the morality police and died of her wounds in a Tehran hospital on September 16. The event triggered protests that quickly spread across Iran and rekindled the people's desire to overthrow the regime.

Shahin Gobadi

NCRI

+33 6 61 65 32 31

email us here

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/627481543>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2023 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.