Orchid Island Golf & Beach Club has plans for a major refresh of its golf course. The renovations will start May 1 and the new course will be completed in October and officially unveiled during Orchid Island's Welcome Back Weekend in November. April 30 will be the last day for golf at the Club.

The design and integrity of our Arnold Palmer course will not change, but will be exquisitely refreshed in order to continue to provide our members with the best golf in Vero Beach.”

The improvements will include:

- New Bermuda grass greens
- Renovation of bunkers
- Regrassing teeboxes
- Landscaping improvements

“The design and integrity of our Arnold Palmer course will not change, but the majority of the course will be exquisitely refreshed in order to continue to provide our members with the best golf in Vero Beach,” said Rob Tench, General Manager of Orchid Island Golf & Beach Club. “Golf at all levels is one of the cornerstones of the social life at Orchid Island and we are excited to unveil the newly-refreshed course to our members in November.”

Orchid Island is one of the few private oceanfront golf communities in Florida to offer direct beach access. A short walk or golf cart ride connects the secluded beach to the Audubon-certified golf course. The fairways are generous and the greens large, receptive to a wide variety of shots, appealing to strong players and to those just taking up the game

The course features nine tee combinations creating flexible overall distances ranging from 4,321 to 7,126 yards, sculpted bunkers and water-guarded greens, and a lush layout with a signature 160-yard 8th plays over water and into a sloping green, guarded by capstone.
