“We are extremely pleased to be offering Merkaba at auction with Sotheby's Concierge Auctions. Owned by an heiress of the De Beers diamond dynasty, no details or luxuries were spared in the creation of Merkaba. This property sits on 85-plus acres overlooking all that Washington's nature has to offer. The striking architecture of the 5,614 square-foot main home is reminiscent of Frank Lloyd Wright's Guggenheim Museum. Inside, natural materials and curves—from the walls to the custom furnishings—come together to deliver artful serenity. Live off the grid; this estate blends sustainability and design. Solar and geothermal systems power the everyday function, while gardens, fruit orchards, and chicken coops provide sustenance. Designed with entertainment in mind, Merkaba features retractable interior walls to expand space for hosting a crowd. A saltwater pool and wraparound patios offer views of the sculpture garden and surroundings. A detached 1,700 square-foot, three-bedroom guesthouse at the other end of the gardens offers friends or family privacy.

The main property hosts three bedrooms, two full bathrooms, and two half bathrooms. The estate sits on nearly 86 acres with a main home, a three-bedroom guest house, and an additional structure. The primary room grants access to a wraparound patio, spa bath with a walk-in shower, and double vanity. Venture outside to the archery range, saltwater pool, rose gardens, orchards, sculpture garden, or chicken coops. This off-the-grid property offers geothermal solar systems, is double-gated, and hosts its own heliport. Merkaba sits 20 miles from Olympia, one hour to Tacoma, under two hours to Seattle, and one hour from Mount Rainier National Park. Travel with ease to the Olympia Regional Airport just 15 miles away or 1.5 hours to the Sea-Tac International Airport.

Additional indoor features include multiple fireplaces and designer appliances throughout; a copper-lined meditation room, home theater, and library/office. Additional outdoor features include an archery range, sustainable rose garden and orchard; a terraced design with landscaping inspired by a sculpture garden in Scotland; geothermal and solar systems; double-gated entrance to the property; a heliport; and spanning views of Mount Rainier.

Just 30 minutes from Olympia and one hour from Mount Rainier National Park, the small town of Tenino offers a quaint downtown area on the National Historic Register, arts and cultural events, a farmer's market, and much more. The Pacific Northwest surrounds the property with vistas of forests and Mount Rainier looming in the distance. Explore the area, with trails abound and two lakes nearby. The Monarch Contemporary Sculpture Park and Art Center is a public art space just five miles from the property. Less than two hours away from Seattle and Sea-Tac International Airport by car, or a short flight from the property's personal heliport, adventure awaits.

The property is available for showings Friday–Sunday 1–4 PM and by appointment, and additionally for private virtual showings.
