

Enhesa partners with Denxpert to provide a comprehensive environmental, health, safety and sustainability solution

Partnership creates turnkey global EHS and ESG legal compliance solution

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM, April 13, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Enhesa, the leading provider of global regulatory and sustainability intelligence, today announced a strategic partnership with Denxpert, a leading provider of environmental, health, safety and sustainability (EHS&S) software. Together, the two companies will provide global organizations with a comprehensive, user-friendly way to manage their ongoing EHS & environmental, social and governance (ESG) audits and compliance reporting.

Tracking and complying with local, national, and international regulations is a challenge for companies of all sizes in every industry. With thousands of new ESG and EHS compliance and reporting requirements being introduced globally, governing everything from the chemical composition of manufactured products to the management of remote workforces, businesses are struggling to keep pace. Under the agreement, Denxpert will integrate Enhesa's comprehensive regulatory intelligence into its Denxpert LEGAL software solution, creating a simple, full-service EHS&S solution that will help clients address compliance challenges and meet their specific local and national jurisdictional requirements, in the regions in which they operate.

“ This partnership represents a powerful combination of our expertise in regulatory and sustainability intelligence and Denxpert's expertise in EHS&S software.”

Peter Schramme, CEO at Enhesa

"By partnering with Denxpert, Enhesa's regulatory compliance intelligence is being leveraged in cutting-edge technology and will deliver even greater value to customers," said Peter Schramme,

CEO of Enhesa. "This partnership represents a powerful combination of our expertise in regulatory and sustainability intelligence and Denxpert's expertise in EHS&S software. We are excited about the opportunities that this partnership will create."

Robert Szücs-Winkler, CEO from Denxpert added: "With this partnership, Denxpert can provide a complete EHS and ESG legal register solution, tailored to the unique regulatory requirements of the regions in which our customers operate. We are looking forward to help our clients around the globe and expect huge interest in the Enhesa content. We also see continued opportunity to collaborate with Enhesa to leverage our complementary assets in EHS&S operations, sustainable chemistry and chemicals management."
