According to MRFR analysis, the Wi-Fi Range Extender Market is expected to register a CAGR of 12% from 2021 to 2030 and hold a value of over USD 3.4 billion by 2030.

The Wi-Fi range extender market refers to the industry that produces and sells devices designed to extend the coverage area of a wireless network. The market for Wi-Fi range extenders includes manufacturers of these devices, as well as retailers and distributors who sell them to consumers and businesses. With the increasing reliance on wireless devices and the need for reliable internet connectivity in every corner of homes and offices.

The COVID-19 pandemic had both positive and negative impacts on the Wi-Fi range extender market. On the one hand, the increased demand for remote work, online learning, and video conferencing has led to a surge in demand for Wi-Fi range extenders.

On the other hand, the pandemic has also disrupted the supply chain and manufacturing processes of Wi-Fi range extenders. The lockdowns and restrictions on transportation and logistics have resulted in delays in the delivery of raw materials and components, as well as finished products.
