these corrupt politicians to ignore the values that built the greatest nation this world has ever seen. I am a true Virginian born and ready to serve the great state of Virginia.”

From a decade of fighting in Iraq and Afghanistan, Army combat veteran Matt Strickland knows what honor, courage, and commitment look like, from serving on the front lines of the battle to the front lines of running a business in the Fredericksburg area of Virginia. This state and this country mean everything to him.

About Matt Strickland:

Matt Strickland is an Army Veteran that spent almost an entire decade fighting in Iraq and Afghanistan. Inspired by his grandfather, who served as an Infantryman with the 3rd Army under General Patton in World War II, Matt joined the Army in 2001 at the age of 17 and served as a Combat Medic in the 25th Infantry, as well as a Counter Assault Team Medic with Blackwater.

After Matt's extensive service to his country, he became a small business owner, opening his restaurant, Gourmeltz.

In 2020, Matt stood up to then Governor Northam's unconstitutional covid mandates. Gourmeltz opened without restrictions, ensuring citizens' constitutional rights were not infringed upon, regardless of the consequences. Matt opposed the unconstitutional mandates. The people stood with Gourmeltz, and the restaurant was filled with Patriots from open to close.

Despite numerous threats and attempts to shut down Gourmeltz by the state and federal government, he remained open and stood with the people. The Attorney General of Virginia sued Matt in an attempt to shut their doors, but Matt won. It restored his hope for our country's future, and sparked his desire to run for state senate.

Through his fight against the tyrannical government, Matt realized a void in Virginia politics. None of his elected officials stood beside him in his fight against Northam and the overreaching mandates; they were silent on the issue. He wants to show these idle politicians what leadership is and how to represent the people they serve. Matt has been influenced by President Trump's leadership skills, and he wants to bring the America First mindset to the Virginia government.
