From the comfort of their own homes, clients can book any hair or makeup service, select the stylist of their choose, and pick the date and time that best suits their schedule.

The salon offers three levels of experienced stylists: Top, Middle, and Junior, each with a corresponding price range suitable for any budget. Seiji's inspiration for creating Trim New York was based on the ease of ordering items online, such as clothing and food, and thought that salon services should be no different.
