and combinations during Westport's International Food Week.

Diners can indulge in the tastes of the world without leaving the city. Some of the special menus pair an appetizer, entrée, and dessert or internationally-inspired drinks as options to offer a full dining experience.

"We are thrilled most of Westport's restaurants featuring international food jumped on board Westport's first International Food Week," said Kim Kimbrough, Executive Director of the Westport Entertainment District. "The special menus are only available during this event because many items take more time to prepare or are offered in combinations at an exceptional value to encourage trying several things. Buen provecho and bon appetite."

Westport's First International Food Week uses special menus with foods only available at this event or bundled to get several things to try. Buen provecho!"

Kim Kimbrough, Executive Director of the Westport Regional Business League

While Westport has many other restaurants with international cuisine, only those listed will participate in Westport's International Food Week, which requires special menus for the occasion.
