more challenging and higher elevation holes on the back nine. The resort is upgrading its driving range and landscaping scheme along with its amenities, including the purchase of new golf carts equipped with GPS technology and online food and beverage ordering features. Construction is already underway on their Hoot course, a 9-hole executive course located behind their Nano and Gambrel homes, opening in 2024.

Golfers looking for a place to dine after their day on the links will enjoy the award-winning Panorama Six82 Restaurant, offering everything from burgers to crispy duck breast and bacon & hazelnut crusted sea bass. Later this year the resort will be opening 2 additional dining establishments: Slice Wood-Fired Pizza & Sports Bar and the Boathouse, overlooking Lake Harold and serving waterside seafood and drinks.

In addition to its Thornton course, Owl's Nest recently acquired the White Mountain Country Club in nearby Ashland.

Rebranded “Owl's Nest Vineyard Course”, this 18-hole Cornish-designed course will receive the same attention as Owl's Nest proper. Under the direction of designer Robert McNeil, several holes are being renovated and redesigned along with the installation of a new irrigation system. The course will earn its namesake when 50,000 grape plants are added to the property this spring as part of what will eventually become a working vineyard, complete with bottling facility, tasting room and event facility for hosting weddings and other group functions. The clubhouse has been completely gutted and will soon transform into a brand new pro shop and restaurant, with new bar, deck and patios.

Owl's Nest's rapid transformation has not only earned it the distinction as one of the largest recreational construction projects in New England, but a top destination resort for golfers and vacationers alike.

"Owl's Nest is fulfilling a need we all recognized coming into our acquisition of the resort back in 2016," says Brad McCoil, General Manager at Owl's Nest.
