TeKoda Accounting Offers One Year of Free Accounting Services to Fellow Woman-Owned Remote Business

USA, April 25, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TeKoda Accounting, a national accounting firm based in Idaho, has announced that they will be providing pro bono bookkeeping and accounting services to Salutations Media Company, a woman-owned remote business in Pennsylvania. The services will include analytics and business development support for a full year, beginning on April 1, 2022.

This initiative was inspired by Dawn-Marie Lewis, Founder and CEO of Salutations Media Company, who plans to leave her job as a remote worker in October to start her own business.

"We are excited to offer our services to Dawn-Marie and Salutations Media Company," said TeKoda Accounting founder, Tevia Hoalst. "As a fellow woman-owned, fully remote business, we understand the challenges she faces and want to help her succeed."

TeKoda Accounting's pro bono agreement with Salutations Media Company will cover all bookkeeping and accounting services with analytics and business development support. The firm will begin building Salutations Media Company's financial platform on January 1, 2023, and the agreement will expire on March 31, 2024.

"We believe that having a strong financial foundation from the beginning is critical to the success of any business," added Hoalst. "Startups fall prey to limping along with finances and miss out on lots of opportunities and tax advantages at this stage. This is actually a critical function that shouldn't be a shortcut. We hope that our support will help Salutations Media Company thrive and grow in the years to come, and pay off tenfold for her as her business grows by having a strong financial foundation from the jump."

TeKoda Accounting's proprietary process generates powerful financial statements that include analysis and goal achievement direction to help grow her business and support her in her plans to develop her business. As a female-owned business themselves, they understand the importance of supporting fellow woman-owned businesses and are committed to providing goodwill, support, and philanthropy.
