You'll be encouraged by Randy's message of grace and forgiveness—as only a battle-tested rocker like him can tell.”

Jonathan Bentley

Stonehill has performed for 50 years and recorded more than 30 albums. He was born in Stockton, California. His first album, "Born Twice," was released in 1971. He made a cameo appearance in the 1973 Billy Graham film "Time to Run" performing his song "I Love You."

In 1976 Stonehill released the Larry Norman-produced "Welcome to Paradise" which was voted the "third most important contemporary Christian album" in a mid-1980s poll of Christian music critics.

According to organizers, Stonehill—who is known for his wit as well as his music—will recount the origin-stories of some of his best-known songs as well as offer insight based on his ring-side seat of the dynamic growth of Christian music.

"You'll be encouraged by Randy's message of grace and forgiveness—as only a battle-tested rocker like him can tell," a spokesperson said.

Additional locations planned for the “Lost Art of Listening Tour” include Mineola, Texas; Topeka, Kansas; Huntsville, Alabama; Birmingham, Alabama; Gibsonia, Pennsylvania; Anoka, Minnesota.
