Since its inaugural year, the Emilio Rivera Celebrity Golf Classic has drawn a large consortium of notable celebrity guests such as George Lopez, Oscar De La Hoya, Jacob Vargas, and Danny Pino, with the primary intention of supporting the students within our mentor program, many of which are from disadvantaged communities.

As founder of the Mentor Program, Hispanic 100 Foundation Chairman Mario Rodriguez understands the importance of merging community and celebrity together to foster change and elevate support for this generation's youth. "We are extremely grateful to Emilio Rivera for his partnership and commitment to supporting our program. It is because of his dedication that we have been able to expand our programs within the community and increase the number of scholarships given to deserving students."

The Hispanic 100 Foundation is committed to providing an environment where the next generation of emerging leaders can learn important life skills for long-term and sustainable success through mentorship, guidance, and strategic training. With help, we can continue to provide this opportunity for many generations to come!

This year's event will be held on Monday, May 8th at Woodland Hills Country Club in Los Angeles County. Sponsorship and team opportunities are available.
