THE LUVU PROJECT.

In Memory of Carolyn C. Mattingly

The Mattingly Workplace Award recognizes and celebrates organizations with exemplary programs, policies, and organizational supports that advance the mental health and wellbeing of their workers.

The Award is supported by the Johns Hopkins POE Total Worker Health® Center in Mental Health based at the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. Find out more about the POE Center here.

The online application for the Mattingly Workplace Award can be found at The Luv u Project website with submissions due May 31, 2023. All applications are reviewed by an independent group of subject matter experts and applicants receive feedback from reviewers on their applications. There is no fee to apply.

Employers with a culture that supports mental health and psychological wellbeing are encouraged to apply for the Mattingly Workplace Award. If selected as a winner, these employers can serve as role models for other organizations looking to create a psychologically health workplace that helps attract and retain top talent.

Criteria for winning the Mattingly Workplace Award include the following eight best practices:

1. Healthy organizational culture

2. Robust mental health benefits
3. Availability of mental health resources
4. Supportive workplace policies and practices
5. Healthy work environment
6. Leadership support
- 7) Documentation of outcomes
- 8) Innovative practices

By showcasing exemplary efforts, the Mattingly Workplace Award inspires other organizations to adopt and implement best and promising practices for workforce mental health and wellbeing.

The presentation of the 2023 Award(s) will take place in November 2023.
