Global Palliative Care Market is expected to reach $25,309 Million by 2030, growing at a CAGR of 8.4% from 2021 to 2030.

Improved Quality of Life: Palliative care provides patients with relief from the physical symptoms and emotional stress of cancer and its treatment. It can help patients manage pain, nausea, and other side effects of chemotherapy and radiation therapy, and improve their overall quality of life.

Increased Patient Satisfaction: Patients who receive palliative care often report higher levels of satisfaction with their care, as it addresses their physical, emotional, and social needs.

Cost-Effective: Palliative care can be a cost-effective approach to cancer treatment, as it can reduce hospital readmissions and emergency department visits, and improve overall patient outcomes.

Improved End-of-Life Care: Palliative care can also provide support to patients and their families during the end-of-life stage, offering comfort, dignity, and respect to patients and their loved ones.
