The Fresno-based startup empowers a network of veterinarians who provide in-home euthanasia to ease the passing of pets at home, surrounded by loved ones.

FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA, USA, April 25, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- CodaPet announced that it is expanding its reach into South Florida covering cities between West Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale. The company provides peaceful in-home pet euthanasia through a network of compassionate and licensed veterinarians who offer end-of-life care for pets at home. In-home pet euthanasia is the best experience for cats, dogs and other animals and their families because their home is where they feel most familiar and comfortable.

Dr. Karen Whala, Drs. Gary and Bethany Hsia joined as co-founders of CodaPet in order to increase consumer access to compassionate in-home euthanasia and to empower a network of licensed veterinarians to bring compassion and professional care to more pets and their families.

In-home Pet Euthanasia Costs

I want to help make this often incredibly difficult process easier on both a suffering pet and their grieving owner/s.”

Dr Diana Gersten

The cost of in-home euthanasia starts at $350 in S. Florida. Aftercare begins at $100, but the final pricing depends on factors such as the location, the pet's size, the need for extended travel, and the option for private or communal cremation. The company also offers out-of-hours appointments.

Benefits of at-home euthanasia may include:

Convenience: You don't have to worry about transportation, which can be difficult if your pet is very ill, has mobility issues, or becomes distressed while traveling to the vet clinic.

Comfort: You know your pet best and you can create the peaceful and comfortable environment that you know your pet loves.

Control: You can choose the timing and location of the euthanasia, allowing you to make the decision on your own terms.

Privacy: You can say goodbye to your pet in private, without the distractions and disruptions of a busy veterinary clinic.
