The LEN AI Weapons Detection & Communications Platform is an advanced security solutions platform that utilizes artificial intelligence to detect and recognize firearms and other dangerous weapons in real-time. The system uses a combination of video analytics, audio recognition, and thermal imaging to accurately detect potential threats and alert the appropriate authorities in a matter of seconds. The platform also includes a communication feature that enables real-time alerts and notifications to key personnel and first responders, providing them with critical information to respond effectively to an emergency.

"LEN is thrilled to partner with MLMP to enhance school safety and security. Our AI-powered weapons detection and communications platform provides an intelligent and reliable solution to address the increasing concerns of school violence in today's world. We look forward to working with MLMP to create a safer and more secure learning environment for their kids and staff," said Hussein AbuHassan, LEN's Founder & President.

"The LEN AI Weapons Detection & Communications Platform installation at MLMP's partner schools will begin in June 2023. The plans to implement this system in all their partner school campuses to provide a safer learning environment for their students," said Alex Lemberg, Law Enforcement Network "LEN's" Executive Director.
