For only $5, BRB will track and expedite the return of undelivered baggage by the airline. If the customer's baggage is not found in 96 hours, BRB will and continue to track the lost items and give the customer $1000, guaranteed, even if the bag shows up later. No proof of what was in the bag (in the form of receipts) is necessary to receive payment. The service covers every flight on every airline, everywhere in the world. It is in addition to any insurance the customer already has.

Founded in 2008, the company serves nearly 5 million monthly customers through various distribution channels, including airlines, travel agencies, travel management companies, credit card companies, and telecommunications firms. It provides its service in 110 countries.

The quickly growing company now boasts 48 patents for its baggage tracking system. Daniel Levine's newest venture, TripAdd, uses machine learning to create personalized bundles of ancillary services.
