About UsedPart.us

Founded in 1992, as a solution to help individuals source rare, unique, and hard-to-find used auto parts, UsedPart.us has evolved to a nationwide online resource to help consumers from across the country. The company's mission has always been to help consumers save money while keeping the planet green.

What sets UsedPart.us apart from other salvage companies is the fact it boasts real representatives in the United States, where other yards hire call centers in places such as India and Pakistan who do not ask the critical questions to make a sale that is appropriate for the consumer. George Corum, founder and owner of UsedPart.us has extensive experience in the industry, working as a salvage yard owner and salvage and dealer software developer for 15 years.
